

Homesite™ Property Checklist

We hope you never need to replace any of your prized possessions. But in the event you do, we've put together this easy checklist to help you make sure what's important to you is properly itemized. Follow the easy instructions and record your information. Then, store the list in a safe place with your important documents.

Make a list of all valuables. Record them alphabetically by room throughout the house. (This makes it easy to sort them later on). List the model and serial numbers, and approximate purchase price, for expensive items and precious belongings.

Take photos or videotape all your major household possessions, such as furniture, televisions, washer & dryer, other major appliances, lawn furniture, etc. (If you're using film, use a separate roll for each room and clearly identify it on the film canister; if you are videotaping, put a sign on each door to identify the room before you videotape it.)

Make copies of all photos and/or videotapes. Put the copies in a safe place other than your home such as a bank, a relative's home or a safety deposit box for safe keeping.

Update your coverage on an annual basis, especially if you have purchased valuable equipment or items (e.g. computer and peripherals, artwork, antiques), remodeled rooms or built an addition. Your coverage should keep up with the growing value of your home and its assets.
